

Unleash the Potential of Active Native Bovine TSH Protein

Get hands-on the cutting-edge scientific advancements with our Active Native Bovine TSH Protein!

Derived from bovine pituitary, this protein holds immense importance in labs around the globe for its multiple applications in biological and biochemical research.

Remarkable Product Features:

- Native Form: The protein maintains its natural conformation, presenting excellent relevance for biochemical and physiological studies.
- High Purity Level: Our Bovine TSH Protein undergoes rigorous purification procedures, offering a highly pure product with minimal contaminants.
- Active Protein: The protein maintains its active status, which allows it to fully perform its intended functions in various applications.

Our Supply Advantage:

- Supreme Quality: Our quality assurance program ensures you receive the optimal product for your research needs.
- Global Scope: We cater to researchers globally, implying no matter where you are, our products are within your reach.
- Immediate Availability: We keep substantial stock for immediate supply, allowing you to obtain it rapidly whenever needed.
- Reliable Replenishment: You'll never run out of supply, thanks to our regular restock program.

Our Active Native Bovine TSH Protein is pivotal in:

- Immunological Studies: It is commonplace in the development of immunodiagnostic assay for TSH..
- Biochemical Analysis: With its high purity, it enables the intricate biochemical analysis of TSH and its reactions.
- Molecular Biology Research: It aids in comprehensive studies of pituitary-thyroid interactions, signaling pathways, and hormone-receptor binding activities.
