

Native Wheat germ Lectin Protein, Colloidal gold conjugated

Cat. No. Lectin-069W    Lot. No. (See product label)

SPECIFICATION

Product Overview

|                          |                                                                                                                      |
|--------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Species           | Wheat germ                                                                                                           |
| Source            | Wheat germ                                                                                                           |
| Description       | Lectins are carbohydrate-binding proteins that play diverse roles in plant growth, development, and stress response. |
| Tag               | Non                                                                                                                  |
| Conjugation/Label | Colloidal gold                                                                                                       |
| Application       | The preparation can be used in SEM for study of membrane dynamics                                                    |

 Tel: 1-631-559-9269    1-516-512-3133

 Email: info@creative-biomart.com     Fax: 1-631-938-8127

 45-1 Ramsey Road, Shirley, NY 11967, USA